Biography

SCOTT NUNNALLY, ACTOR, PRODUCER & SENIOR WRITER

Scott has been acting professionally since 1994, predominately in Pittsburgh, Pa. Scott's work primarily resides in stage work having appeared in regional productions at Mountain Playhouse in Jennerstown, Little Lake Theater in Canonsburg, Pa., and at the Pittsburgh Public Theater. Scott was educated in theater and communications at Slippery Rock University. Scott has also appeared in films such as "The Jackson's An American Dream", "Cemetery Club" and most notably "The Mothman Prophecies" and is soon to star in Awaken Pictures' first feature length movie, "Illusions".

Scott Nunnally and Tom Swift have been collaborating on a multimedia supernatural/thriller franchise for more than 10 years. He is a very valuable asset and friend to the Awaken Pictures family. Scott has been active and persistent in studying the business, technical side, and art of filmmaking and television since a young child. He has a keen understanding of telling stories in this medium; he knows what works and doesn't work. His professional council and knowledge is a valuable asset. He has access to many filmmakers and theatrical professionals with a similar zeal and passion, who take their faith and work seriously and strive for excellence.

Scott Nunnally is currently working in the Pittsburgh area to create an East Coast film, television, and theatrical association and is in the preproduction stage of writing and directing his first short movie. He also runs the film company Executor Arts Media (http://www.executorenterprises.ws./) and will be co-producing and starring in the upcoming Awaken Pictures Black History project, "Freedom Lost? The Story of James City and Its Surrounding Communities".

Scott has also been very active in Arts Education since 1995, teaching for such organizations as the Civic Light Opera, John Heinz Pittsburgh Regional History Center, the Creative and Performing Arts High School of Pittsburgh and most recently and notably the Center for Theater Arts where he instructs acting and improvisation.

Scott and his wife, Lisa, have two daughters, Avanle' and Aviana.
